

Dear Recruiter:

I am currently searching for an internship or part time job to bring my skillset in Software Engineering and Computer Science to the real world.

I am currently in my third year at the University of Central Florida studying Computer Science. I have been active in numerous clubs at UCF such as the Game Development and Cyber Security Club. Through GameDev I participated in the Indie Galactic Space Jam, in which my team and I spent a weekend building a video game in the Unity game engine. I am also developing a mobile game for Android in one of my classes that will utilize online features such as leaderboards and multiplayer. A lot of my free time is spent teaching myself new skills and concepts such as Android Studio, Git, SQL, and HTML/CSS. I am eager to gain more work experience and apply my skills to the real world.

I am currently working as an attractions attendant at Universal Orlando Resort. My job requires that I often interact with guests and follow very strict procedures. I hope to be able to bring what I have learned to working at your company. More detailed information about my education and work experience is available on my résumé. I can also provide any additional resources concerning my coursework and projects upon request.

I am willing to meet with a representative upon your convenience.

Sincerely,

Kyle Capehart
